

ABP Corporate Policy

Compensation

PHILOSOPHY AND OBJECTIVES

The American Board of Pediatrics (ABP) seeks to establish and maintain a system of compensation that will effectively attract, reward, and retain a well-qualified workforce within its available resources and general economic circumstances. To accomplish these objectives, the ABP, working in conjunction with an independent compensation and benefits consulting firm, will provide a compensation program that establishes and maintains competitive salary levels within relevant markets, and one which is consistent with job content, responsibilities, and the required knowledge, skills, and abilities. The program will emphasize and encourage excellence by rewarding individual performance and group contributions that reflect ABP values, such as consistency, excellence, reliability, and transparency.

Consistent with the above, salaries will lead relevant benchmarks when performance is substantially above established standards and expectations, and lag relevant benchmarks when performance is below established standards and expectations. The principles that will be followed in implementing the compensation policy include the following:

- The mission and values of the ABP will serve as the guiding consideration for all human resource actions;
- Total compensation, consisting of direct pay, employee benefits, and the work environment, will be considered collectively;
- Compensation structures will reflect the different markets in which the ABP competes for staff - local, regional, state, and national. While fairness and consistency are important principles, priorities and organizational needs will also be taken into consideration. Internal equity within the compensation structure is also of vital importance to the success of the organization.
